Our Privacy and Data Protection Values

The Oundle Society - structure

We are proud of our School, our former pupils and supporters and we want to stay in touch

The School and The Old Oundelian Club have a shared interest in, and co-ordinated approach to, their former pupils and supporters, and the Oundle Society acts as a shared administrative service provider. This statement provides a summary of how The Oundle Society handles and uses the data it collects to support the work of the Old Oundelian Club, the Oundle School Foundation, and the wider School community.

Transparency

The records we hold electronically and/or on paper are used by The Oundle Society to help us to organise events and offer services, to promote the School, and for fundraising purposes. Activities include the production of publications (such as About Oundle, the Old Oundelian Magazine and the Report on Giving), surveys, appeals, and the marketing of events and dinners. Communications may be sent by post, telephone or by electronic means. Records commonly contain basic details of education, contact details, and career and other achievements. Interactions and connections with the School, and details of donations are also recorded. In some cases other data are added, including, but not limited to, information about partners, financial and other data you have disclosed to us or which we have derived from public records and publicly-available sources of information, and information about your areas of interest and potential to support the School.

Security and controlled data-sharing with partners

All information is held and transmitted securely and (in addition to disclosure as permitted or required by law) may be disclosed on a considered and confidential basis to officers, Governors, employees and/or staff of The Corporation of Oundle School, The Oundle School Foundation and the Old Oundelian Club, and to selected third parties who may provide services to The Oundle Society such as 'mailing house' services, telemarketing infrastructure, and prospect research. The Oundle Society also facilitates communication between former pupils, but we will not release personal contact details unless we have your permission to do so. We will not sell or share your information with any third parties for their own use or for them to market to you.

Control

You are in control! If you have any queries, wish to restrict data processing or sharing, or do not want to be contacted by The Oundle Society at all, please inform us. If there are specific publications, communications, or activities from which you wish to opt-out, please let us know and your wishes will be recorded and respected. (Minimal information is always retained to make sure we do not contact you again inadvertently.) We keep our privacy and data protection policy under review, and any changes we make will be published on our website and made available in hardcopy on request.

Our data controller is Dominic Toriati, Bursar, Oundle School, Church Street, Oundle, PE8 4EE, but you are advised to contact the Oundle Society offices with any queries in the first instance.
