QUESTION ONE

[70 marks]

Translate the following passage, which is about the emperors Nerva and Trajan.

The historian Eutropius reflects on the brief rule of Nerva and the glorious reign of Trajan which followed it.

Domitianus erat imperator pessimus. anno tamen octingentesimo et quinquagesimo ab urbe condita*, res publica* ad prosperrimum statum rediit. Domitiano enim Nerva successit*, vir in privata vita moderatus et strenuus, nobilitatis mediae. aequissimum* se* et civilissimum praeibuit*. mortuus est Romae post unum annum et quattuor menses imperii* sui, atque inter divos relatus est. successit ei Traianus, natus in Hispania, familia antiqua magis quam clara*. rem publicam ita administravit ut omnibus principibus merito* praeferretur*. Romani imperii fines* longe lateque extendit. gloriam tamen militarem civilitate et moderatione superavit. Romae et per provincias saepe vehebatur* ut amicos salutaret vel* quod aegri* erant vel* quod festos* dies habebant. nullum senatorum oppugnavit, nec agebat iniuste ut divitias haberet. per orbem terrarum aedificavit multa, nihil non tranquillum et placidum agens, adeo ut omni eius vita solum unus senator damnaretur* atque id tamen per senatum factum est, ignorante Traiano. propter haec per orbem terrarum deo proximus* maximam gloriam obtinuit et vivus et mortuus. autem aetatis anno sexagesimo tertio mortuus est. inter divos relatus est solusque omnium intra urbem sepultus est*.

Either QUESTION TWO

[30 marks]

Read the following lines by OVID carefully. Answer the questions which follow them on a second sheet of paper.

[You will probably find this verse difficult, but I am most interested to see some evidence that you have attempted to wrestle with the difficulties. Please be aware that in Latin poetry the word order may be different from prose, and that words which naturally go together (like nouns and adjectives) may be separated. This means that at all times you should be thinking about the significance of the endings in order to fit the words together in the correct grammatical structure. Your answers should refer to specific evidence in Latin from the poem, so that I can see that you are not just guessing!]

The nymph Echo is only able to repeat the words that have just been spoken. Despite this difficulty, she tries to attract a boy, Narcissus, who rejects her advances.

forte puer comitum seductus* ab agmine fido

dixerat: 'ecquis* adest?' et 'adest' responderat Echo. 380

hic stupet*, utque aciem* partes dimittit in omnis, voce 'veni!' magna clamat: vocat illa vocantem.

respicit et rursus nullo veniente 'quid*' inquit

'me fugis?' et totidem*, quot* dixit, verba recepit.

perstat et alternae deceptus imagine vocis 385

'huc coeamus*' ait, nullique libentius* umquam

responsura sono* 'coeamus' rettulit Echo et verbis favet ipsa suis egressaque silva

ibat, ut iniceret* sperato bracchia* collo*;

ille fugit fugiensque 'manus complexibus* aufer!' 390

Or QUESTION THREE

[30 marks]

Translate these English sentences into accurate Latin. Even if you are uncertain about all the words in a sentence, you are advised to attempt as much as you can since every word carries some marks. Guesses may just earn some marks, but gaps never will. Much of the vocabulary for this section is taken from Section One.

1. Domitian, who was often unwilling to fight enemies, was a worse emperor than his brother and father.
2. After Domitian died, Nerva became [i.e. was made] the emperor.
3. Trajan ruled the republic so well that he was loved by the Romans.
4. Roman citizens were not able to be buried within the city.
5. Some Romans believed that Domitian was running the empire very well.
